

Fly the flag, Jamie, it is birthday time again! Hope this reaches you before you are worn out from celebrating.

I was, indeed, impressed with your letter; it just takes me a while to respond. But in the meantime I had copies made and sent them to Aunt Greta / Uncle Bill, Jessie Livingston, and the Groundwater / Miran family, who had all been asking about you. Two of them are gone now, so your letter was very timely.

Last year my attempts at gardening were hampered by cataract surgery simultaneous with pump problems, ending with having a 4-inch well drilled in the front yard, near the big apple tree. As of course the weather was a problem, too; so I hoped this year would be more favorable. However, the weather <sup>is</sup> too much like last year, ... and ...
