Dear Sir or Ma'am,

I am researching my family's history and looking for the burial site of my great-grandmother. I know from notes left by my father that she is buried in a cemetery on the east side of Detroit. Having been a German Lutheran, and having lived on Belleview Avenue shortly before her death, I think it highly possible she is buried in the Trinity Cemetery.

I am planning a trip to Detroit next year and would like to see if I can find her gravesite. To that end, I have a couple of questions:

- What days and hours is the cemetery open and staffed? Tues-Sat 8:00 AM - 3:00 PM
- Is there a register or record book that can help visitors find a gravesite? Maps

If you would be willing to look through your records for the following person, I'd be much obliged, as it may help narrow my search.

→ age at death - 40 died NOV 3, 1892

Friederika Schuetze, died between 1891 and 1893, married to Herman Schuetze. I've seen variations of the spelling of her first name, and the last name could also be spelled "Schütze" or "Schutze."

Thank you for your time and assistance. If you would be kind enough to reply, you may do so via the mail or email addresses below.

Thanks again,

Jamie Schutze
